TASTE THE GIN

After adding tonic or mixer

WHAT ARE YOU LOOKING FOR?

*Most gins have some of these following flavours - so see what you can smell or taste:
citrus, liquorice, cinnamon, aniseed, fruits and herbs.*

You should always be able to detect juniper which is characteristically dry, piney and peppery.

Is the juniper on the tongue or towards the back of the mouth? How strong is it?

NOW TASTE THE GIN

Swallow the gin & consider the following:

Is the aftertaste similar to the nose or different?

Is the aftertaste dominated by stronger flavours such as spice, earth or aniseed?

TONIC WILL REDUCE THE HEAT & ALCOHOLIC CONTENT

It should also make some of the other botanical flavours more detectable.
